DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102 & 103

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- 2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 3. Claims 1, 3, 4, 7 12, 14, 15 and 17 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US Patent No. 5,884,428 to Shelton.
- 4. Re claim 1, Shelton discloses the claimed invention including a hook assembly 10 comprising: an attachment end configured to fixedly couple to a lead 28, see Figs. 11E-11H, for example, the attachment end being especially that part attached to lead 28, a shank portion 14; a curved portion 16 extending from the shank portion 14; and a closed loop 18, see Figs. extending from the curved portion 16.
- 5. Re claim 12, Shelton further discloses a tail portion 99, Fig. 7F, for example. While Shelton does not explicitly state the existence of an axis, most conventional and commercially available hooks have shanks inherently including an axis.
- 6. Re claims 3 and 14, Shelton further discloses the curved portion 16 having inner and outer edges, the loop 18 extending from the outer edge.

- Re claims 7 and 17, Shelton discloses the loop 18 being formed integrally to the curved portion 16. Further, and alternatively, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to form the loop integral with the curved portion, since it has been held that forming in one piece an article which has formerly been formed in two pieces and put together involves only routine skill in the art. Howard v. Detroit Stove Works, 150 U.S. 164 (1983). Further, it has been held that the term "integral" is sufficiently broad to embrace constructions united by such means as fastening and welding. In re Hotte, 177 USPQ 326, 328 (CCPA 1973).
- 8. Re claim 8, Shelton further discloses a wire assembly 74 coupled to the hook assembly.
- 9. Re claim 9, Shelton further discloses the loop 18 being centrally located along an outer trailing edge of the curved portion 16.
- 10. Re claim 10, Shelton further discloses the loop 18 being disposed along the curved portion 16 between the shank portion 14 and the tail portion 99.
- 11. Re claim 11, Shelton further discloses the loop 18 being substantially planar to the curved portion 16.
- 12. Re claims 4 and 15, Shelton discloses the loop 18 being arcuate.
- 13. Claims 5 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shelton.
- 14. Re claim 5, Shelton discloses the claimed invention except for the loop being at least one of square and triangular shape. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the loop any desired shape, since there is no invention in merely changing the shape or form of an article without changing its function except in a design patent. Eskimo Pie Corp. v. Levous et al., 3 USPQ 23. In this case, the function of the loop is to be able to attach a fishing line, which function does not change with shape.

- 15. Re claim 13, Shelton discloses the claimed invention, and further, the use of a spinner blade, see Fig. 5C, for example, except for coupling a spinner blade to the loop. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Shelton to couple the spinner blade to the loop, since it has been held that rearranging parts of an invention involves only routine skill in the art. In re Japiske, 86 USPO 70.
- 16. Claim 2 rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103 as being unpatentable over Shelton in view of US Patent No. 6,189,257 B1 to Ulrich.
- 17. Shelton discloses the invention substantially as claimed, as applied above. However, Shelton does not disclose at least one of a hook, a weight, a spinner blade, and a trailing hook being coupled to the loop 18.
- 18. Ulrich teaches coupling at least one hook 14 and trailing hook 16 in the same field of endeavor for the purpose of using an array of clustered fishing hooks.
- 19. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Shelton to include coupling at least one hook and trailing hook as taught by Ulrich in order to array a cluster of fishing hooks. Further, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to couple a weight and a spinner blade, since it was known in the art that weights and spinner blades are conventional and commercially available fishing tackle and are usually coupled to fishing tackle.

Response to Arguments

20. Applicant's arguments filed 04 OCT 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

21. Shelton alone does indeed disclose the claimed invention as applied above, either alone or in combination. The difference between an eye, as argued, and a loop, as claimed, is indistinguishable.

Conclusion

1. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
